

VINCOMM OPENS NEW HEADQUARTERS IN MEXICO

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

SAN DIEGO, JUNE 06, 2005 (BUSINESS WIRE)—Vinculum Communications, Inc., (Vincomm), a premier provider of VoIP network carrier services and IP trunking solutions, announced the opening of a new headquarters in Lomas Anahuac, Mexico.

Managed and operated by Israel Maya, president, and Mario Kahn, vice president, the primary focus of the Mexico location is to establish a local presence in central and coastal Mexico, taking advantage of a myriad of direct sales opportunities for Vinculum's IP trunking technologies. Maya intends to build a dynamic direct sales team which will cater to enterprise accounts and vertical markets looking to lower their costs and improve outbound global call quality using IP trunking capabilities.

"Opening new offices in Mexico this year demonstrates our total commitment to delivering VoIP services to partners and vendors around the world," says Scott Goodwin, president. "Not only does it provide current customers with better support, but future customers can count on unparalleled quality and rapid deployment of our network carrier services throughout Mexico."

"I think Vinculum's move is a step in the right direction, solidifying our presence within Mexico," offered Maya. "I look forward to the challenges in building a core business around our already-proven international network."

About Vinculum

Vinculum Communications, Inc. (Vincomm) is a San Diego, California-based, 214-licensed international long distance carrier, offering termination services to more than 150 long distance carriers worldwide. Customers enjoy the highest-quality in long distance calling, along with lower costs, increased profit margins and global coverage. www.vincomm.net